

who: tatjana krizmanic

where: left bank gallery
25 commercial street
wellfleet, MA 02667

when: august 16 - september 13 2008
(extended through october 2008)

opening: august 16th 5-7p.m.

Tatjana brings the sea and sky, dune and brush, water's edge, and fishing town's narrow streets to life in her recent show of Cape Cod inspired work, "The Light in the Air".

In this new body of pastels and oils, Tatjana introduces a more subtle palette of colors and hues. When applied to familiar landscapes, these unusual color choices and formal arrangements result in an interpretive realism: the works describe the emotion and imagination that arise in the artist's own experience - a sense of poetry found in ordinary places. They capture Cape Cod's distinctly dream-like quality.

Anyone accustomed to Tatjana's style will find in this new body of work a greater presence of the artist's inner world, released on canvas and paper with skillful abandon.

